

Idea #1

Top Friends

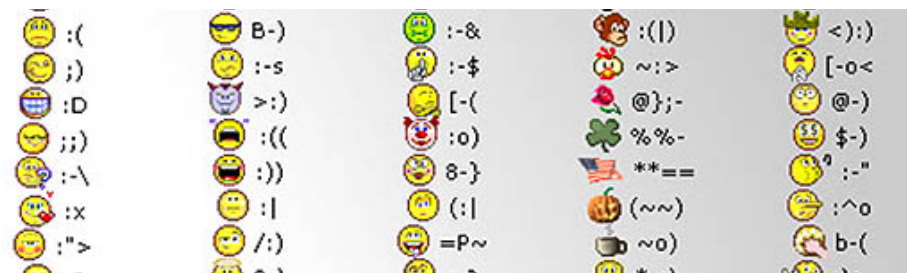

One of the first memories that I had about the internet was myspace. One of my favorite parts about the social media platform was the “top friends” section. This section was a very interesting part of myspace. A ranking system of your friends, telling you who’s someones #1. It seems like such a hurtful and useless idea. It hasn’t been used by other social media platforms.

Customizable

My favorite part of myspace is the customizable layouts of your profile. You can add you're own background, fonts, music, and pictures. I would fix my web-site every week, just cause it was so fun and every week, my preferences would change. Different websites are there with the different codes to change the way it looks.
